The two bye-laws proposed under Item (1) simply relate to procedure to be adopted in case the owner fails to make certain arrangements, which have not been specifically stated. It is not also known who is to bear the cost of arrangements of the owner prove that they were unnecessary - Vide bye-law (2). For the use of the land a permit is necessary & the bye-laws should be of the kind enumerated in page 85 of the Govt's bye-laws. For infringement of these bye-laws there should be specific penalty, instead of the General bothering Govt to set matters right which should be resorted to only in extreme cases if approved, the Govt General may be requested to revise the bye-laws suitably
